

ABSTRACT

A protector is disclosed for protecting an elongated portion of a rope or webbing. In an embodiment, the protector includes a flexible material that is formed in a spiral or wrapped position along the length of the flexible material.